Paper cups are technically recyclable. However, the recycling process of paper cups is complicated, and recycling communities that accept paper cups are very rare. Majority of paper cups are made out of virgin materials - not recycled paper and lined with a thin coating of polyethylene plastic.

How to recycle Paper Cups

Unlike most paper items, paper cups can't be recycled because they're actually coated in plastic—as little as five percent per cup. That's why they're able to hold liquid without leaking all over the place. It's also why they don't get broken down into pulp and turned into recycled paper. While some communities do recycle materials like paper coffee cups, they're very rare.
